

Either Sinclair must air a 'pro-' Kerry ad in the same time slot the following week, or it should be prevented from showing such a clearly partisan film in support of one candidate over another.

This is obviously an illegal in-kind donation, and should be punishable by the FCC.

As regrettable as Janet Jackson's 'costume malfunction' was during the Super Bowl, it pales in comparison to the gravity of consciously manipulating a presidential election.

The FCC must do its duty.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something produced at "News Central" far away, it's more important that we see real people from our own communities and more substantive news about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
